Our project currently doesn't use any libraries or frameworks that we haven't used for homework assignments.

The TCP connection is in the server.py file, it uses the TCP library that was used for homework assignments.

The HTTP request/response headers are built with the functions created in the server_build.py folder.